Internationalizationprize 2022

In 2017, Sweden's medical faculties jointly instituted a prize for the internationalization of higher education at the undergraduate and advanced levels. The purpose of the award is to encourage teachers and teaching staff at the medical faculties to work for increased internationalization in teaching.

Now it's time for nominations for the 2022 award. The nomination period is open until March 14th. Nominate a teacher/teacher team that you think worked for increased internationalization on the following page: <https://tinyurl.com/internationaliseringspris>

Thanks to the survey "Union membership on equal terms" which was sent out before Christmas, we gained insight into your strong will to gain greater insight into Consensus advocacy work towards the university. Therefore, we have chosen to publish the month's impact on our website every month, look under "News" to read about the advocacy work we have conducted during the financial year so far!

The Student Survey

I want to help make LiU a better place!

Not true at all

Completely true

The student survey has landed in your student emails, in just 10 minutes you can help make a difference in your education and study environment. Thanks to previous student surveys, more study places have been added, microwaves in the student kitchens and further investment in Student Health.
